

Re: Covid-19 marshals

To whom it may concern,

I would like to apply for the position mentioned above.

Previously, I have worked as a subcommittee member for Rochester House (2018). I am currently a house committee at Obz square and a faculty mentor of the Science Faculty.

The roles I previously undertook and the ones I am undertaking have equipped me with coordination and communication skills, conflict resolution and conflict management skills, critical thinking, and problem-solving skills.

My experience working in the different spaces has made me knowledgeable in the different policies governing the university which sharpened my work ethic and professionalism.

Prior to orientation week I was given covid training as I was to be a covid marshal for orientation week. The experience helped me become more aware of on how to keep shared facilities safe and gave me reliable information on covid protocols and measures.

Time management is also a very useful skill I attained from these roles, and it has helped me manage the academic, social and the duty aspects of my life.

I always aim to improve myself in all aspects of my life, whether for personal or professional reasons. This opportunity will give me the means to further improve, but not limited to my leadership skills, coordination skills and better improve how I can execute my duties.

I hope that I am given this opportunity so I can learn more, help people stay safe and pass on the knowledge to others.

Yours sincerely,
Thifhidzi Rammbuda
